

Dear Prospective Sponsor.

Since 2004 and 2009 the annual international IT-Security conferences DIMVA (Detection of Intrusions and Malware & Vulnerability Assessment) and ESSoS (Engineering Secure Software and Systems) provide a forum for interested parties to come together to discuss, to network, and to plan ahead. The conferences enable attendees to remain abreast on current research trends and enable sponsors to market themselves and to scout out potential new employees for existing (or future) hiring opportunities.

Both conferences cover different aspects of IT-Security and will be co-located events this year, taking place July 3-7 2017 in Bonn, Germany. Currently, the local organizing committee at University of Bonn is reaching out to potential sponsors who may be interested in providing financial support.

This year the conferences will offer multiple Sponsorship Packages as described below, but we are of course open to negotiate different levels of sponsorship as well (e.g. catering, social dinner, lanyards, bags, etc.).
